Nador Castle

In a remote old castle long forgotten by the world, the young Duke of Oakdell and his family are living their lives in poverty.

Nador - Props

After Egmont's failed rebellion against the Crown, the castle and a few family relics are the only things tying the Oakdells to their once-glorious past.

Leaving Home

Richard's story begins some years after his father's failed rebellion, when he is summoned to the capital to receive education and prove his loyalty to the Crown.

It is not an easy goodbye.

Marshal Alva

Upon graduation, Richard is taken on as a squire by marshal Alva. Possibly the most powerful man in the country, the marshal is sharp, merciless and ostentatiously rich.

He also happens to be the man who killed Richard's father.

Alva's Mansion

A large hôtel particulier in the centre of the city, Alva's home is a clear display of his wealth and power.

Richard will have to spend the next three years of his life here - and he is not looking forward to it.

Marshal's Study

The quarters of the marshal are not frequented by other people. Here he spends his days working - but also drinking, playing guitar, envisioning his next big military campaign, and drinking some more.
